Where is Mummy?
Where is Mummy???
Dedication

I dedicate this to my Grandma for helping me throughout life.
This is my family.

There is Mummy, Daddy, my two brothers, my sister and me.
This is our house. It is always busy.

Mummy going to and from work. My brothers, sister and me going to school and Daddy doing this and that.
When we don't go to school on weekends we all go out and do something fun.

Lately Mummy hasn't come with us.
Mummy hasn't been going to and from work. Daddy hasn't been home.

Grandma has been looking after us.

Where is Mummy???
Daddy comes home at night but goes to his room. I want to talk to him. I want to see Mummy.

Grandma says no and tells me to go to my room.

Where is Mummy???
When I wake up the next day Daddy has gone again. Today I don't have school, it's a weekend.

We are meant to have a fun day today. I asked “Where is Mummy???” Grandma tells me to get ready to go out. I want to know.

Where is Mummy???
We get home from a fun day, but Mummy and Daddy weren't there. It wasn't fun.

I still don't know where Mummy is. I miss her.

Where is Mummy???
At night I cry. I don't care if I look like a baby.

Then Grandma cries. She says I'm not a baby. She tells me Mummy is sick and needs to get better.

Now I know where Mummy is.
The next day I didn't go to school because it was still a weekend. Grandma said I would see Mummy today.

She told me Mummy looked different because she didn't have any hair and she's sick.

Now I know where Mummy is.
I see Mummy. She tries to smile and says it's been a long few weeks.

I don't know what she means but it feels good to feel her arms around me.

Now I know where Mummy is.
I'm happy now.

For a while it was like Mummy still wasn't home. When I wasn't at school and I was at home she was sleeping and when I was at school I didn't see her, but I was happy.

Now I know where Mummy is.
After a while Mummy starts smiling. So I smile.

Mummy starts to get better. Everyone is happy.

Where is Mummy???
She is here with me.
