Victorian Patient Transport Assistance Scheme (VPTAS) is a transport and accommodation subsidy scheme that helps people cover some of the costs of visits to specialist medical treatment not available in their local area. VPTAS is provided by the Department of Health as part of their obligation to provide health care services for everyone in Victoria; it is not means tested.

Are you eligible for VPTAS?

You are eligible if you:
- are an Australian citizen or a permanent resident of Victoria
- live in a Department of Health designated rural region
- referred by a recognised, accredited medical practitioner for specialist treatment
- need to travel more than 100km (one way) from home to treatment or on average 500km per week
- are a carer who has been certified as being medically necessary by the medical practitioner or specialist.

You are not eligible if you:
- live within 100km of appropriate treatment
- have had your costs covered by another agency (e.g. DVA, employer schemes, workers compensation, other insurance claim)
- travel by ambulance, air ambulance, other emergency transport or inter-facility transfer – you can still make a claim for other costs incurred
- are on holidays or visiting friends or family in Victoria or interstate
- are travelling to or from outside Australia
- are accessing allied health (e.g. physiotherapy, osteopathy, podiatry) or general practitioner services
- are participating in a clinical trial.

Do I have to pay anything?

VPTAS will not fully cover your costs. Patients must contribute $100 per treatment year to the cost of accommodation and travel to treatment. A treatment year is defined as 12 months from the date of the patient’s first listed medical specialist service. Pension and health care card holders don’t have to pay this charge.

Direct payment to travel and accommodation providers

If an organisation provides transport services or accommodation, patients may have all or some of their VPTAS entitlements paid directly to that organisation.

Remember to take your VPTAS form with you whenever you have an appointment and ask your health professional to fill it in.
